

Francesco Crispino (Rome, 1967) has worked in the film industry for years, as a director, scholar and teacher of audiovisual media studies. He has made numerous documentaries and short films and is the author of a number of critical studies and two books on film (winning a special mention for the first at the Pier Paolo Pasolini Awards). La peggio gioventù marks Crispino's debut as a novelist.